

Being Human

Being human, we each contain a human spirit, this little bit of God deep within us empowers the growth and development of our lives, and gives us the possibility of self creation.

True human consciousness is the presence of God, aware of the world it has made possible, compassionate and caring of all its children.

Our fall from innocence has been part of our journey, for through suffering we are caused to develop.

The greatest gift of all is that we can change, for being able to change gives us hope, and hope gives us cause to keep trying.

Being human, we live on the edge of the unknown, the future reaches into our lives, and our self-belief gives it cause for hope.
