

Both the known
and the unknown
are always
close at hand;

it is simply
a matter
of perception.